

agax, eū in ōes cœli, orbisq; plagas emittit; ad huc terre spisso sub corpore sepulchry innumeras celestis curia auendit faces; postea eū ex hoc sepulchro re, surgens rosea resorbere facies, et ardorū cœli viā ascendere coepit ad inspiciendū se letos hominū aspectus, et amicas salutaritū voces primū erubescit, totamq; celestē machinā rubore suffundit, deniq; eū altissimā cœli nostri beatū confunderis, tū regnat, tū dominatur, tū triumphat, tū vīa regit, vīq; splendor, ac lucē præbet, vīa sua virtute conseruat, tū infanda sterilitū mortū vīpera argenteis, aureisq; pinguiscere vanis, tū deformes vāliū solitudines rerū abundare copiā, tū sinuosas equos, voragines gemas sicut intū, mesere opibus. quāta priorū perfectionis, quāta præstantia, quāta illius sint bona ex malis oppositis cognoscite; auferatur ex globo ætherea sic areus flœbus, ablatū cœli ornāmētū, quādiū malaliū, terra solaliū, rerū om̄ū stabilitimētū; ex alto ruat, ruet et uniuersū; quæ prius flouerant, efflorescere cogent, quæ luxerant clarissime, tūmeris inuolu; tenebris, quæ bonorū copia, quæ diuitiarū gloria, quæ rerū om̄iū luxuriā insolesebant, iā vīa hæc simul deuestabuntur, deuestata, putrida terra globa sepelient, sepulta propria tūba conficiant,