

quia et arbores dextere scandit altissimas; lympara sibi pulsata, s; imprimis Choragū ad eū egregiū se ostendit, ut tibi arū delinēbus modulatione, inq; posteriorē crebq; pedes, admi-randa lenitate choreas ducat, pedib; verō anteriorib; vice manū gessus chironomia molūq; dat, iamq; graui modestia ingreditā, nā procunctis pedes pasibus equis insequat, id hilari passu, in tū grauiori incedendo, ut lege saltus qui-piat; id ad eodē pariter in gyruū voluat; tū nova facilitate choreā redintegret, et tribato fursū corpore, pedibusq; mirantib; ad numeros saltatorios motus dat, ad eū eleganter, ut equis Sybariticis sua docilitē inuidia, admirationē suā arte mouere, ac stupentib; abruptisq; tanta illius indole spectantū elicere possit; deniq; tū sūtē variatos tibi modos, aut edidos hūma-ni, et bucinarū numeros equali saltu quōdā rectib; vel insequit graui incesu, aut leuo tripedio exprimit, ut si alter choragus arfira sua pede laruatus incederet ignoranti doli, dū, sūtē optē iudicare, an due bestie humanā nā induiserit, an verō, ut bestias se oculi passerent spectaculo, duo homines sub bestiarū conuys